

The 2025 Tribal Self-Governance Conference celebrated 50 years of Self-Determination and Self-Governance. This milestone honored Tribal Nations as they reclaimed authority, reshaped federal relationships, and built government systems that reflect our values. As we approach the 2026 Conference, we look forward to the next 50 years. New technologies like artificial intelligence and big changes in the federal government are quickly changing our world. When Tribal Nations lead these changes, we can turn uncertainty into opportunity. This approach will strengthen sovereignty, expand self-governance, improve services, and make sure innovation supports our communities' priorities.

The 2026 Tribal Self-Governance Conference, happening April 7 to 9 in Chandler, Arizona, is a national event tailored for these important conversations and new ideas. The conference brings together Tribal leaders, federal partners, policy experts, and practitioners who are putting community-driven solutions into action in health, public safety, social services, land management, and economic development. It is a unique chance to learn from real successes, build strong partnerships, and support proven ways of governing that are already making a difference in Indian Country.

We invite you to join us as a sponsor of the 2026 Tribal Self-Governance Conference. Your support will help Tribal Nations access high-quality sessions, advanced training, policy tools, and shared learning that build capacity across Indian Country. Sponsors also gain valuable visibility and ways to connect.

With over 1,600 participants expected, including leaders from Tribal governments across the country, your support will help build stronger and more empowered Tribal communities.
